

SKIES ARE CLEAR FOR DERBY DAY

Over 60,000 People Swarm in Washington Park, Chicago.

BIG SOCIAL EVENT

Twelve Horses Entered to Contest for the Great Racing Event.

SOCIETY IS IN STYLE

Chicago, June 22.—The greatest procession of stylish and ordinary turnout from an automobile to a dogcart began fling its way up the avenues and boulevards to Washington park at two o'clock. It is a delightful day.

By three o'clock there was such a jam about the entrance gates and the grand stand that it appalled the 100 police in charge. It is estimated that at least 60,000 people are now on the ground and a never ending stream keeps pouring in.

No Authorized Betting
There is no betting on the track. That is, there was no regular authorized betting. Hand books were flourished and the big crowd will have hard work to be accommodated. The "New York system" of betting will be in vogue. That is, no tickets will be written, but the number on the bettor's badge will serve to identify him if he is lucky enough to cash.

List of Entries
The entries for the Derby have been decided upon and twelve horses will start. These, with their jockeys, the odds against them and their weights are:

SOCIETY OUT FOR THE DERBY

Chicago Women Will Be Out in Force For Event Today

Chicago, June 22. Noon.—This is Derby day. It comes once a year for Chicago just as annually as it greets old England. There will be a horse at the Derby to be run at 4 o'clock this afternoon—the winner.

Women Make Derby Day
But there were also ten thousand women and they make Derby Day. The horse is only a provocative, a circumstance obscured by the rustle of skirts, the sheen of satins, the coverings of net and lace, the fair faces that rise above the best of the modiste's art.

The horse may be Lady Schorr, or Robert Waddell, or Silver Dale, or Sadie S., but only the gamblers will care about that. Most of the money is already placed; today the easy-going, easily worked public will bet and lose. But it is the woman that will hold the center of the stage, woman that will make Derby Day what it has been in the past—a gala of color, perfumes, gay equipages, stunning gowns.

Promises Fair Weather
It looks as if a dozen horses would start, and as if the track might not be much faster than 2:42 for the mile and a half—not as fast as the distance was gone a year ago. This will not concern many people. There will be at least 50,000 in the grand stand and grounds. Some of the 50,000 will bet—$2 bets on impossibilities. Yet all the time their keenest interest will be in woman. Without her Derby Day would be a blank.

CONVICTS CARRY WOMAN AS SHIELD USE HER TO WARD OFF BULLETS

Escaping Prisoners from Fort Snelling Reservation Use Mrs Chas. Johnson to Protect Themselves.

St. Paul, Minn., June 22.—Carrying a fainting woman before them as a shield against a threatened shower of bullets, two escaped convicts from Fort Snelling dashed over the bridge across the Mississippi river yesterday afternoon in a hopeless effort to escape.

The two men were serving long-term sentences and while at work under guard they jumped from a window and ran for the bridge. The guard saw them as they got to the bridge and fired three shots after them and turned in an alarm. He then followed and continued shooting.

Near the middle of the bridge the fugitives met Mrs. Charles Johnson of 653 Case street, who, with two of her children, was walking towards the fort. They seized the frightened colorless, stupid affair of stage—a watching of a procession of more or less imperfect horses chase each other around a ring of commonplace earth.

A venture at the total sum gone into gowns alone puts the figure at $100,000. Four Derby gowns with hats and other arrangements represent about $1,000 in expense.

Derbies Are Expensive
Then there are the et ceteras that go with these gowns—traps, tallyhoses, hackney gigs, hansoms, spirited horses, luncheons before and after. Here's another hundred thousand easily broken and used up—all for one day, the day of the American Derby. Braver sight of beautiful women, of conglomeration in dress, of society edging the track with middle class and bottom, Chicago never witnesses. It is the one day of the year when the town abandons itself to an outgoing that centers itself on the interrogation:

"What has she got on?"
Up and down State street they say they never saw anything like it. Why, the World's Fair couldn't touch it, so the merchants say.

They are talking of the "glad clothes" which will be worn at Washington park this afternoon. For society is going to the races, and so are its poor relations, and Derby Day "get-ups" will range from a few thousand each down to a "ready-made with one blue and white cravat, all marked to sell for $1.11."

Dressmakers, milliners and tailors have been working overtime and so have the carriage painters and all others who will contribute to the panorama of wealth and color which will be on exhibition in the racing park today.

Say It Is Wonderful
The business men say, "wonderful! wonderful! and still again more wonderful! They are spending money as they haven't for years and years and buying the swiftest."

The milliners and haberdashers get into the chorus and cry with the rest. The shoppers don't care who wins this derby, they say, making such remarks as, "Get the things home in time." "Isn't my hat prettier than Mrs. Makeup's? It will just kill hers! I hope she will have a box near me. My! She'd never get over it!"

They tell of the woman who spent $50 for a sunshade, $25 for white silk stockings, $42 for a hat and consoling herself with:

"Well, the bill won't come in until the first of July and I won't do a thing to Washington park before that. I will win enough to cover all of the outlay. Tips are so easy to get you know."

Two women in a millinery store in the Venetian building yesterday made this wager: The one who lives in Rust street said: "I'll bet you $30 that two-thirds of the gowns in the grand stand tomorrow will be black and white."

"Taken," said the woman from Prairie avenue.
Chicago's real society will be there, all except the Palmers, and so far as known they have not turned over any of their thirty odd rigs to their "constituents" in the Twenty-First ward.

Absentees Will Return
Arthur Caton will be out in his drag with a party and Mrs. Caton will be in a victoria. The "real things" who have moved to the country, will drop their golf clubs, powder their sunburns, get into their summer togs, and "whoop-up" for the Derby.
The L. Z. Leiters, Nannie Leiters, and Daisy will come in from Lake Geneva and add their share to the coloring of the infield.

MORGAN PURCHASES A WORK OF ART

SOLDIERS SURROUND A NEGRO AND EXCITED MOB AROUND BOTH

Texas Troops Liable to Lose a Negro Brute Whom They are Trying to Protect—Mob is Determined to Kill the Colored Man Without Fail.

Houston, Tex., June 22.—Houston light guard and Houston cavalry were sent to Trinity yesterday to protect a negro rapist named Spencer from mob violence.

The last advice at two o'clock this morning, coming in a direct way, say that the negro was tied to a tree with the soldiers surrounding him and the mob surrounding the soldiers.

The commander of the soldiers has informed the mob leaders that he will obey the governor's orders to return the negro to this city and they have told him that the negro would never be taken out of the county. A bloody clash between the excited Texans and the troops seems very likely. In that case the soldiers would soon be overpowered.

As the soldiers boarded the train with the prisoner some one in the crowd opened fire and a pitched battle ensued in which about two hundred shots were fired.

It is not known whether anyone was killed but it is believed that two of the mob were shot.

The mob which had the first consignment of troops beleaguered in a school house was taken completely by surprise by the arrival of reinforcements early this morning and after some maneuvering the soldiers with the prisoner boarded the train but found that the track had been taken up.

WANAMAKER WILL GIVE $3,000,000

Latest Move of the Millionaire Merchant in the Philadelphia Franchise Fight.

Philadelphia, June 22.—An offer of $3,000,000 cash was made today by John Wanamaker for the street railway franchises recently given to Congressman Robert Forrester and his associates. The offer was made by letters addressed both to Mr. Forrester and Mr. Ashbridge. Mr. Wanamaker stipulates also that he will charge only three cents fare during the heavy morning and evening traffic. His offer provides that $2,000,000 of the consideration shall go to the city, and be used for harbor improvements and public schools. He proposes to give franchise holders a bonus of $500,000 for the privileges "which" he says in the letter, "cost you nothing."

ROY A. SANBORN MISS L. FREEBORN

Engagement of a Popular Janesville Boy to a Richland Center Young Lady.

Madison, Wis., June 22.—Many Janesville people will be interested to learn that Roy A. Sanborn is soon to join the order of Benedictines. He is engaged to Miss Lurline Freeborn of Richland Center. The ceremony is said to be scheduled for sometime in July.

RUSSIA IS STIRRED.

Ambassador Presents the Standers Uttered by a Paid Writer.

New York, June 22.—A special to the Tribune from Washington says: Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador, had his attention called to an article entitled "the Russian situation from the inside," which appeared in this week's number of the New York Independent. After reading the article, Count Cassini said: "I never before heard of the author of this article. I spend about two months every year in Paris and am well acquainted with our ambassador there. I shall cable to Paris immediately to learn if there is any such person on the staff of the ambassador as legal adviser or in any other capacity. I cannot believe that a servant of his majesty the czar would make such gross misrepresentations of his government and of Russian affairs in general as are contained in this article."

"Disturbances among the university students last March, of which this man professes to write authoritatively, were no worse than they usually are. Russian students are like the students of America and every other country. They are merely boys full of vitality, which sometimes expresses itself in reckless and lawless form."

"I speak not only with a general knowledge of the facts, because I once was a university student in Russia myself, but I am also able to speak with specific and detailed knowledge of the disturbances of last March. At no time did they amount to a serious demonstration against the government, and at no time were the students supported by the workmen of St. Petersburg or elsewhere."

In the debris was found the head of a man or a woman. The hair is burned off and the features unrecognizable, and the remainder of the body has not been found. The bodies taken out thus far are almost unrecognizable, and are burned and torn by the fire and the collapse of the timbers of the building.

DROPS FROM THE SKY 200 FEET BALLOON ROPES COLLAPSE ON HIM

Narrow Escape of George R. Lawrence—Presence of Mind Prevents Him Being Dashed to Death.

Chicago, June 22.—George R. Lawrence, the photographer who takes snap shots at the earth from the sky, fell 200 feet from a broken balloon yesterday, got upon his feet without a bruise or a scratch and went about his business as unconcerned as if such things happened to him every day.

Quick, hard thinking of an unusually high quality is probably what saved Mr. Lawrence's life. He balanced himself on the little platform of ten feet square which was all that was left of his balloon, and kept it flat under him as a car and a parachute combined, striking the earth standing on his toes, with his joints bent and his muscles stiff. He fell on his side, and when he got up he did not have so much as one good sharp pain. A stinging sensation in his feet was the only unpleasant feeling.

"As I approached the ground," he said, "I raised myself on my toes, and I was in that position when I struck. The platform hit the ground, tilted just a little, but almost as flat as when I started to fall."

"I collapsed like a rag of course when I hit, but I got up at once, and found that I didn't have a bruise except a very slight abrasion on my right knee that doesn't count. On the way down I was not scared or troubled about the outcome, knowing that the only thing for me to do was to keep that platform straight. I thought of a lot of things, though while I was falling and don't want to do it again, but I believe from my experience that a man could fall a great deal farther than 200 feet without harming himself, if he knew how to do it."

PLEASANT MEMORIES THAT CLING TO OLD ST. JOHN'S HOMESTEAD

An Interesting Reminiscence of the Early Days of March, 1836, When William Holmes Came to Janesville with His Family.

An interesting chat with an interesting character;—interesting because she is a woman of culture and refinement;—interesting because her life in Janesville spans the entire political life of Rock county;—interesting because of the story she can tell of her coming in the early springtime when the earth was still held in the icy grasp of the winter king. It cannot be reproduced here, because the charm that comes to one in such a presence can not be made to appear in the record.

In the early days of March, 1836, William Holmes came to Janesville with his family, consisting of his wife three sons and two daughters. One son had preceded the family some months before. While Mr. Holmes was not a man of wealth he brought with him ample means to supply all the needs of the family, in so far as money could supply them. He brought more—he brought industry, integrity, character and brains. But it is not the purpose to write of Judge Holmes, but of the youngest member of that family, who still lingers while all the others long since passed into the beyond.

Catherine A. Atwood (nee Holmes) wife of our venerable and highly esteemed citizen, Volney Atwood, the youngest child of Wm. Holmes, was fifteen years of age when the family came to Janesville. Only one house here then, and that contained only a single room. "St. John's house" was always open to new comers and fortunately for them only a few came at that early day. But the night of March 9, 1836, was made memorable by the arrival of eight weary souls who found shelter under that hospitable roof, making in all nineteen persons who lodged in that single room that night.

Evidently the St. John heart was larger than "The St. John house." The people who were sheltered in that house that night constituted the white inhabitants of what is now Rock county, with the single exception of "Thebauld, the Frenchman," who was living near where the city of Beloit now stands, which then contained only the house in which Thebauld lived.

What a history is contained between the then and the now! Then, what is now Rock county had scarce a single score of white inhabitants; the entire territory of Wisconsin only a few hundred. What changes this hopeful, helpful, robust young girl has witnessed! Every building in the county, save only Thebauld's in Beloit and St. John's in Janesville, has been constructed since she came, and while she lives in the heart of a busy little city, where the hum of machinery never ceases, she has still a sense of loneliness as she recalls the days of her coming and finds every living soul in the county at that time long since gone to their final rest.

The story of their entire journey would be full of interesting incident, but we can only speak of the last few days. When they reached Chicago rumors were rife that the Indians were hostile and turbulent in Rock River valley, as they were opposed to the coming of the whites, and Mr. Holmes was advised to leave his family in Chicago while he himself went on to learn of the situation. But Holmes declined to consider such a proposition, and said they would all share the perils incident to their coming and if need be would perish together. So, on Tuesday, March 5th, 1836, they started to complete their weary journey. It was a cold and cheerless morning. Snow and sleet had fallen which had nearly obliterated the Indian trail they were to follow. But they must follow it or be lost on the prairie.

Their outfit consisted of three two-horse wagons, one yoke of oxen, six cows and some young cattle. At camping time the wagons were placed at proper places and long ropes were stretched between, to corral the stock and prevent escape. Nothing but the usual hardships occurred to them until on the last day of their journey. The snow had been falling nearly every day since they left Chicago and the trail had been difficult to follow much of the way; but on Saturday the snow had become so deep that it was a great impediment to their progress, and night found them miles away from their destination, and to add to their unhappy situation, the "trail was lost!"

Notwithstanding the long years that have passed since that dreary, moonless night, the face of the aged narrator was painfully expressive of the terror and alarm which the child felt when the scene was transpiring. But how to find the trail. This must be done or they would be lost on the prairie. So this little caravan came to a halt and the women of the party and one of the men remained at the halting place and the others started out to find the trail.

It was agreed that the stationary party should blow their bugle every five minutes and keep their light exposed, while the searching party, each of whom carried a lantern and a horn, should answer back, and thus all would be kept in communication. For an hour this search went on, all hearts being heavy with the gravity of the situation. Even the sound of the horns, as they communicated, one with another, seemed to partake of the common anxiety.

But a change came which sent a thrill of joy through the hearts of the little band who had kept the watch and given the signals. The merry piping of the horns could only mean that the trail had been found and that the happy little party were following it back to the hasty camp. Now the reunited party moved on again with lighter hearts, for they were convinced that they must be nearing the end of the cheerless journey.

On and on they made their tire-some way, till they found themselves on the edge of a bluff, overlooking what seemed a valley. Looking down over the lower plain with straining eyes, they discovered a signal light that dispelled all gloom and all doubt. It was the signal that had been agreed upon in case they should arrive in the night. Now the bugle gave its most musical blast and every horn joined in glad chorus. It can not be told how anxiously this little party waited for the answering signal, but they had not long to wait. It came up on the frosty air from the valley below in the mingling of the merry horn and the hurrah of glad voices bidding them welcome. "No such glad sound ever greeted my ears," said the aged narrator, as with face aglow and moistened eyes, she told of the long-ago wearisome night. The end was now almost reached—not more than a quarter of a mile away—and the voices of the men grew more cheery as they struggled up the bluff, making a pathway through the snow, down which the little party were so soon to follow in safety and happiness.

We may well leave these tired people to find rest under that hospitable shelter, crude though it was, just erected, containing but a single room; but how sweet the hospitality it represented!

The pleasant memories that cling to the St. John homestead are only excelled by those which surround "the Home of Frances Willard." But we digress, and return again to take respectful leave of one of the characters who has been conspicuous in the development of Rock county from the very beginning, and the impress of whose hand and heart will be felt in the social and religious circles in which she lived long after her voice is silent and her hand still.

CITIES INTERESTED IN WIDE TIRES

Farmers have long enjoyed a monopoly on the discussion of the merits of wide tires, but the city folks are now getting interested. Chicago has deemed the subject not too small for its consideration, so smaller cities need not be ashamed to take it up, though it does have a rural flavor.

Many attempts have been made in the Wisconsin legislature to encourage the use of wide tires. All sorts of bills have been introduced with that end in view, most of them to exempt wide-tire wagons from taxation, but the farmers have never been able to agree among themselves on the subject and not much progress has been made.

Chicago has been agitating the matter for the same reason that the country districts have talked it, because it would save the thoroughfares. The Chicago common council sought to compel the use of tires varying from three inches to six inches, but compromised with the traffic interests on tires of about half the width specified in the original ordinance.

It is argued on behalf of the wide tire that it saves the vehicle and enables a horse to pull a much heavier load, in addition to saving pavements. Owners of vehicles naturally object to the cost of changing, but it is claimed that the amount of the saving would soon compensate them for the expenditure.

The saving to the city would be very great. It is estimated that the pavements would last twice as long, and in a city as big as Chicago that would mean the saving of millions of dollars. The Chronicle asserts that if the city could bear the expense of changing the tires on all the vehicles in the city the amount would be saved ten times over in the cost of paying repairs.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

BUSY WEEK WITH TOBACCO GROWERS

Farmers Are Working Long Hours Transplanting the New Crop —Soil is in Good Shape.

The Edgerton Tobacco Reporter says:

"This has been a busy week with the tobacco growers of the state, who are working long hours transplanting the new tobacco crop. The work which is general in all sections is being carried on under the most favorable conditions, the soil being in excellent order, while the weather is suitable for a good stand in the fields. Several showers have occurred during the week, giving the recently planted fields a prompt start.

"The earlier set tobacco is already well rooted and coming forward amazingly well. The usual complaint from cut-worms is heard requiring some resetting but their ravages are not greater than other years. There seems to be an abundance of plants for the intended acreage and the completion of the transplanting promises not so far behind as was feared a few weeks ago.

The inquiry after packings of last season's crop continues though much of the stock in local hands has already passed into the hands of large holders. The American Tobacco Co. are credited with buying 7000s of '99 of Barnard & Wilder of Evansville, and a 5000s lot of E. C. Hopkin's 1900 packing. C. L. Culton closed out the last of his '99 goods, 100 cases, during the week. Frank Baines purchased a couple of small packings of 1900 at Cambridge recently and 600s of '99 of Alex Nelson at Deerfield.

"An occasional lot of last year's tobacco is being purchased in the country at about former prices, but it requires a good deal of riding to find them.

"The shipments out of storage reached 1021cs, 20 carloads for the week past from this station to all points. Since last report 32500cs of cigar leaf were exported from New York.

Rev. Ensign Hemming is home from a visit to Chicago.

Catarrh

The cause exists in the blood, in what causes inflammation of the mucous membrane.

It is therefore impossible to cure the disease by local applications.

It is positively dangerous to neglect it, because it always affects the stomach and deranges the general health, and is likely to develop into consumption.

Many have been radically and permanently cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. It cleanses the blood and has a peculiar alterative and tonic effect. R. Long, California Junction, Iowa, writes: "I had catarrh three years, lost my appetite and could not sleep. My head pained me and I felt bad all over. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and now have a good appetite, sleep well, and have no symptoms of catarrh."

Our stock of FANS.

Warm weather was somewhat slow in getting here this year, but we knew it would come and prepared in advance for it. How well we made it possible for people to fortify themselves against the stuffy atmosphere of an overcrowded room, the temporary discomfort brought on by too much dancing, and other situations, is shown by our unusually complete stock of Fans. We have decided novelties in large flat fans, such as palms with fancy handles and large palms made of selected stock, plain and fancy Ning Poo's, which also make excellent brush broom holders, and common palms paper fans we have an immense variety, all white light fancy effects, and beautiful medium dark and black and white creations. A finer lot of inexpensive folding fans this store never displayed. They make dainty presents. For fancy silk and gauze fans ranging in price from 75c to $3, here is the place to come. Large new lot just received. Beautiful styles at 1.00, 1.25, 1.50, 1.75 $2.00. 2,000 fans to select from

Sheets and Pillow Cases

We carry them in several grades and sizes. Ours are made of old and tried brands of sheeting and will cost you only a little more than the goods by the yard. We placed an order recently for several hundred sheets and cases and bought them at a very low figure. Among other makes we carry the popular "Defender" brand, so much talked about in all the magazines. It hardly pays to make them at home now.

Bamboo Portieres, Rope Portieres.

They are well liked, especially at this season, making a cool, pretty screen for a doorway. Our showings will interest you. They do not cost much and yet the styles are excellent. During the last few days we have received about fifty of these Portieres, making a splendid variety to select from.

Mr. John Stetson, of Hotel Myers day clerk, says: "A physician pronounced my trouble, kidney complaint. If the severe pain across the small of my back is any indication of the said complaint, I guess I had it. For two years I suffered with attacks, some times virulent, sometimes a dull grinding ache, which robbed me of considerable energy. I used in addition to doctor's prescriptions, several preparations said to be sure cures for kidney complaint, but up until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at the People's Drug Co. as a drug store, I received little if any permanent relief. I took a thorough course of treatment prescribed by Doan's Kidney Pills and it cured me. Up to date I have not noticed any recurrence of my old trouble."

Knowlton Danderine Co., Chicago, Ill.

Gentlemen:—It is with no little gratification that I give Danderine my hearty indorsement and support.

I was induced to put it in stock through the splendid indorsement given you by Jessie Bartlett Davis. It has proven its merits to such an extent that I have found it almost indispensable among my customers; its results are positive and permanent.

Respectfully, E. Burnham

Mr. Burnham, (71-73 State St., Chicago) has had twenty-five years' experience in dressing and treating the hair and scalp; and has tested numerous hair preparations during that time. He, therefore, is in position to recognize merit when it exists in a hair tonic. The people of Chicago know Mr. Burnham well enough to appreciate the value of his testimonial.

GRATITUDE.

One of the striking characters of the book, "Alice of Old Vincennes," is "Long Hair," the Indian scout. He is painted as a villainous character, so repulsive and treacherous, that he was dreaded by the white inhabitants of the little early settlement, but "Alice" did not fear him, for she had won his love and gratitude by a deed of kindness, at a time when his life was demanded as the price of crime.

"Long Hair," Indian like, never forgot the kindness, and when the time came to express his gratitude, in practical ways, he was not slow to improve it.

Gratitude, like many graces, is spontaneous in the lower kingdoms, and never requires cultivation, until dwarfed and hindered by the environments of the kingdom of humanity.

The modest little flower that wilts and withers in the heat of the day, hiding its head from the choking dust that fills the air, opens a smiling face as the early morning dew washes it, and says "thank you," to the first glance of sunlight. A grateful little blossom teaching a lesson so quietly that no one observes it.

The faithful dog follows all day in the trail of his master, happy in the companionship, never complaining, and lies down at night, tired and hungry, to wait for the bone that he has watched so wistfully, and as you throw it to him, his eyes snap with pleasure, and with a smile on his face, and a wag of the tail, he says with the best language in his vocabulary, "thank you." The affection of a dog is always genuine, and his gratitude is just as sincere.

The intelligent horse that spins off the long miles on the dusty roads obeying voice and rein so perfectly, that it is a pleasure to sit behind him, possesses a nature that is full of gratitude and appreciation.

Watch him as he catches sight of the old trough by the roadside, and as you rein him up and throw off the check and speak a kindly word to him as he stretches his long neck and plunges his nose into the cool, refreshing water, only a little stretch of imagination and ordinary horse sense is necessary to catch the "Thank you," that every glance and movement indicates.

Spontaneous gratitude, that God gave to the flower, the dog, the horse and the Indian, and that time and circumstances have thus far failed to tarnish or diminish.

This spontaneity of gratitude, so common in the lower creation, is less apparent in the minds and lives of many of His creatures who are said to be created to His own image.

Selfishness, the great corruptor and destroyer of the finer sensibilities, never fails to perform its blighting mission, and as a result, many hearts are tarnished, and the spirit of gratitude destroyed.

A little boy stepped into a store one day and cast a longing look on a basket of apples. The proprietor said:

"Johnie, do you want an apple?"

Quick as thought came the answer,

"Yes, give me two."

That principle, carried out into life is too largely the main spring of action. The "Give me two" spirit, that prompted the boy, is the controlling spirit in too many lives that have drifted away by inheritance or neglect from the spirit of gratitude that fills the heart of the savage, and shines out in the lives of the lower creatures.

The boy, in the home, enjoys the wealth of a mother's love and sacrifice and the bounty of the father's indulgences, without thought or consideration. He takes it all as a matter of course, and when young manhood is acquired, and he steps out into the busy activities of life, indulging in its pleasures, and paying tribute to the demands of society, that is a little too swift for his income, the "old man" is prosy and a back number, and the old home good enough for a nursery.

The girl that has cost the mother so much anxiety, and the father so much money, forgets it all in the whirl of the new life, and so the boy and girl take on the responsibilities of man and womanhood, and go on into life to become a part of the complex thing called society, with every spark of gratitude extinguished.

These conditions are all too common, and the wonder is, that the genuine heartfelt "Thank you," has not been lost to the vocabulary.

Where gratitude to friends is so easily forgotten, it is not at all strange that gratitude to God is not spontaneous. It is comparatively easy in times of emergency, to recognize the hand of human friendship. When a man is on the verge of bankruptcy and relief is tendered, it is so tangible, that lack of appreciation is only possible to a heart that is extremely dull and unresponsive. But the hand is not always extended, and many an honest man has gone to the wall because of neglect.

The common blessings of life are so evenly distributed by an All-wise provider that favoritism is not known, and the weakest creature, shares in the wealth and bounty of the great Creator.

"Seed time and harvest," sunshine and rain, are universal promises, fulfilled with such monotonous regularity, that humanity is slow to recognize the Giver and Controller.

The little cloud no bigger than a man's hand, calls out from the unseen a host of neighbors, and soon a darkened sky, lighted by electric touch, and trembling with the melody of the storm, discharges its wealth of water, and vegetation responds to new life, and renewed vigor. But who thought to thank God for the storm?

The old earth, watered by the dew and rain, and quickened by the sunshine reproduces year after year, its wealth of fruitage, and after the barns and storehouses are loaded down to groaning with the harvest, a meager handful gather on Thanksgiving day to say "Thank you."

The nine lepers that forgot the common courtesies of life so many years ago, represent a fair average of humanity today.

It is well to have hearts full of gratitude, and willing tongues to express it.

Pres. Harper will be no more content with an endowment of $50,000, 000 a few years from now than he is with $10,000,000 now. As the equipment is enlarged his wants and needs multiply, until it will take the profits of several bloated monopolies to supply them.

The committee of fifteen of New York is the first movement that has accomplished things since the overthrow of Boss Tweed, and yet one of the backers of the committee characterizes their actions as undignified, so of course their raids must stop.

The franchise steal in Pennsylvania, allows surface, elevated or underground roads; gives perpetual charter; does not regulate fares; and requires no compensation to the cities. They got about all they wanted.

Sen. Platt got rid of Gov. Roosevelt by nominating him for vice-president. He now seeks to get rid of Gov. Odell by nominating him for president. Anything, so long as Platt is boss of New York.

No nation ever started out as favorably as Cuba. Order is assured at the beginning, and it is promised the protection and guidance of a powerful neighbor.

No document the president has ever signed will affect more profoundly the future of William McKinley than his statement on the third term proposition.

Whitewater Register: "It is generally agreed that the superintendent for the blind and deaf were removed because the La Follette administration needed the places to give to their friends. So ably had Mr. Bliss and Mr. Swiler filled their places that, even when the democrats, hungry from being kept for years from the crib, went into control at Madison, these gentlemen held their places. The responsibility of the state unfortunates in our institutions is so great that we would suppose the governor would hesitate to put men at the head of them whose only qualification is that they have assisted in electing an executive, or furthering his pet reform." The Stoughton Hub says: "If the removal of experienced and capable officials from Wisconsin's charitable and penal institutions, and the substitution of untried and incompetent political pluggers, is evidence of reform, then the present executive is living up to his ante-election promises like a little man."

Razdolof, a member of the Macedonian committee at Sofia, writes the paper as follows: "We are determined to take up arms, even if it costs us our lives. It is better to die together than to be exterminated piecemeal."

SEARCH FOR MISS HELEN FIFIELD IS STILL GOING ON IN CHICAGO

She Quit the Home Hotel Without Leaving a Trace—Chief Hogan is Now in the Big City—How Sheriff Maltress Tracked Her.

The search for Miss Helen Fifield is still going on in Chicago but at the present time nothing has been learned of her whereabouts since she left the Home hotel at 228 Washington street. Chief of Police Hogan and Judge Fifield left on the 4:30 train this morning to help prosecute the search and will stay till they are satisfied that she is not in Chicago. Her father, F. E. Fifield, now feels satisfied that she went to Chicago on Thursday morning but is at a loss to explain why she should do such a thing and why she took only her old clothes when she might have taken better.

Certain Its Same Girl
Sheriff Maltress returned home from Chicago last evening and while no trace of her has been discovered since she left the Home Hotel, he is certain that she is the young woman that went there Thursday morning.

Yesterday morning he got up early and went down to the Northwestern depot about the time the 4:30 train arrives in Chicago. Just after he got there two cabmen drove up. He accosted the first one and asked him if he had carried a young woman from the station on Thursday morning. He said he had not but that his partner did and called him.

He told the sheriff that he had carried a young lady to the Home hotel from that train yesterday morning and described her to the sheriff, as to size, dress and personal appearance. Sheriff Maltress then went into the station where Dr. Geo. Fifield was and secured a photograph of the girl. When the picture was shown to the cabman he immediately said that it was the girl.

The sheriff asked him how he knew and he said: "When she spoke to me about the hotel she lifted her veil and I got a good look at her and then when I handed her into my cab my face was close to hers and I could see through the veil. I am sure she is the girl."

The sheriff then inquired as to her asking for "The Home Hotel" and if she did not say a "home hotel" not a public hotel, he said.

The Home Hotel
"No she asked for 'The Home Hotel' and I told her I knew where it was and took her over there. She went up the stairs, entered the hotel and that was the last I saw of her."

Sheriff Maltress then went to the Home Hotel which was but a short distance from the station, near the entrance to the Washington street tunnel, in a bad district. He went up the stairs, rang the bell and walked into the office where he found the proprietor in a dingy little room. He asked him about the young lady that came there Thursday morning and was told she had come to the hotel about the same time of the day as he did.

She Asked for a Room
She asked for a room giving her name as Mrs. Daisy Taylor, Milwaukee, Wis. She paid for the room and was assigned to No. 17, to which she was shown. She carried a small grip answering the description of the one carried by the lady seen to take the 4:30 train from this city. After remaining in the room for a short time she told the landlord she would walk around the city a little and wanted the key to lock her room. The landlord locked the room and told her she would find the key at the desk as it was against the rules of the house to allow the keys to be taken out on the streets.

She returned from her walk in about an hour secured the key to her room and had the landlord bring down her grip. She left the building saying she would be back in a short time and that was the last he saw of her. The register was kept by the proprietor, so nothing could be gained from that source by the writing.

Described Her Perfectly
The landlord at the hotel was also shown her picture and thinks there is no doubt that Miss Fifield was at the hotel Thursday. He describes her perfectly saying she had on a dark blue skirt, dressing jacket and hat. She also had a veil, but it was black. The black veil was also mentioned by the transfer man, also the cabman.

Where she went after leaving the hotel is a mystery and although every hotel, rooming house and hospital has been searched by detectives, police and reporters it cannot be discovered that she visited any of them. There was no cab in the vicinity of the Home Hotel when she left it and it is thought that she either took a cab in another neighborhood or else when she first left the hotel she met someone and returned and secured her grip and went off with them.

Afraid to Stay There
There is no doubt that she left the hotel because she discovered the kind of a neighborhood in which it is located and was afraid to stay there. There is also hardly a doubt that she asked the cabman for a home hotel and he thought she said the Home Hotel and he took her to the place she left.

When the sheriff left Chicago the detective force was still on the hunt for her and men had been specially detailed by Chief Colleran to work on the case and would keep at the work until satisfied she was not in Chicago or could not be found.

A letter was received this morning from Dr. Fifield in which he said "there was no doubt but that they were on the right track but were temporarily blocked."

The story of the lady at the union station was all right as far as it went it was discovered that the lady was from Iowa and was taken to a sanitarium and had no connection with Miss Fifield's case.

club and the Ladies' Afternoon

Euchre club to meet together and enjoy the afternoon as Mrs. Jeffris' guests. As a result the two had a most jolly time, about thirty ladies being present. The afternoon was spent in playing whist, the game being played on the veranda where the perfection of the weather added pleasure to the card playing. The prizes were won by Mrs. Mary Doty and Mrs. Frank Smith.

No hint of the surprise in store for the guests was given until supper time when the card players were joined by their husbands. The gentlemen had been invited on the quiet by Mrs. Jeffris and had met together at the home of Ed. Doty, descending on their unsuspecting wives in a body. The surprise was a complete one.

SUFFERED SEVERE ELECTRIC SHOCK

Last evening about 8:30 o'clock the trolley wire on the Forest Park line got kinked in some way that can not be understood and broke, the break occurring at the corner of South Second and Jackson street. The live end remained caught to the supports on the slack wire dropped so that at the corner of Court street it was only about five feet from the walk. The motorman went to the home of A. J. Harris and telephoned to the power house to have the power shut off but he neglected to say who he was and there was no indication of any trouble at the power house. During the delay a party of young people came up Court street hill and Walter Woodring and Miss Hilda Dummer walked into the wire and were knocked to the ground. Mr. Woodring received the full shock and was unconscious for some time. Howard Baack who was riding by on a bicycle also struck the wire and fell from his wheel. Workmen were at work on the wire all night and did not get it repaired until late this morning.

MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE

A letter to the insurance commissioner to me reads as follows: "You are properly organized and may go ahead and write insurance." This refers to the "Merchants and Bankers' Mutual Fire Insurance Co." of Beloit, which I organized the last of May.

I kindly ask all those who have heretofore been insured by me to remember me in this new company. The fact that I have been so successful in similar organizations heretofore perfected, is evidence that I can do as well if not better in this new one. I am not ashamed of my record. I can safely say that there is $25,000 each year now left with the people of Rock county as a consequence of my work. Stand by me and you will not regret it. If parties are needing insurance before I see you drop me a card or mail to me an old policy and I will attend to it at once. The rates you pay into this organization is only about 60 per cent of what you paid in 1896 to regular insurance companies. As a mutual we have a right to ask for help in the case of an emergency, but there is not as much probability of our asking you for the 40 per cent. we leave with you as there will be if you take a train to the Pan-American exposition, to get your neck broke before arrival there, or if you take a lake steamer in going to get to the bottom of the lake. My address until in August, 1901, will be Janesville.

Very truly,

what cruel and maliciously false things people can say. Sometimes since then I have yielded to the temptation to repeat a hear-say story but I never did so without bitterly regretting it afterwards. My triple test has saved me from even this occasional remorse.

The testimony of my lady friend is worth passing on. If there be one among us who will profit by it the world will take another onward stride towards the better and higher things and in at least that one life there will be the dawning of the kingdom of kindness and charity.

PROF. GLEASON AS A HORSE TRAINER

Astonishes Big Crowds by His Performances with the Animals at Fair Park Last Night.

A large audience filled the grand stand at the fair grounds last evening to witness Prof. Gleason's feats of horse taming. The entertainment opened with a performance by a trick horse whose clever feats delighted and astonished all. The most unruly one in the lot was one with a record of having six runaways and of being a great kicker.

At tonight's performance the professor will try his skill on "Clifton terror," one of the worst all around bad horses in this section.

Announcement was made that Prof. Gleason would give three special exhibitions next week, on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, and that all children under twelve years of age would be admitted for ten cents each.

The first horse trained by the Prof. last night belonged to Mr. Skinner. He was terribly afraid of drums, parrots or any objects out of the ordinary run. Before the professor got through with him he could drive the horse right over a parrot or brass band and as a final test he stood without flinching while a dozen bunches of firecrackers were discharged directly under his body.

The second horse handled belonged to Mr. Dean. He had a record of nine runaways and would kick any wagon he was hitched to to pieces if he only had a show. Before Prof. Gleason was through with him he had his fill of kicking and the professor says that one more lesson will make a good horse of him. He really was a star performer with his heels and came very near landing the professor before he subdued him.

The broncho Gypsy was dragged into the ring with ropes attached to two other horses and before the professor subdued her he was nearly as warm as the broncho. No one that has not seen an exhibition of this kind can realize what it is without attending.

A Strong Woman

Iowa City, Iowa, Aug. 15, 1900
My wife was sick for three years. We tried everything without relief and spent much money. My wife tried Wine of Cardui and four bottles cured her. She took two more bottles, knowing she would have to work hard during the hay harvest. She attended to all her household duties and loaded and unloaded all the hay. This medicine gave her strength. Formerly she was weak and tired and could hardly get about, but since she has been taking Wine of Cardui she feels better and stronger than when 20 years of age. JOSE A. EISENHAFER.

Mrs. Eisenhafer had tried everything during her three years sickness and had spent considerable money. She was weak and could hardly get about for three years before she took

WINE OF CARDUI

Now, after taking the Wine of Cardui, she can work with her husband in the hay field. That is hard work, but it is not as injurious to a woman's health as labor in stores, factories and offices where thousands of girls are closely confined year after year. With the aid of Wine of Cardui a woman can do any reasonable work and enjoy good health. The health that Wine of Cardui brings makes a woman vigorous in body and mind. Freed from those terrible devastating pains a woman grows well and strong naturally. Wine of Cardui regulates the disordered menstruation and cures leucorrhoea, falling of the womb and periodical pains in the head and back caused by standing or sitting a long time in the same position. Theodor's Black-Draught puts the bowels, stomach, liver, kidneys and blood in proper shape. Greatly increased strength and endurance is the natural result. Most cases are cured quickly. All druggists sell $1.00 bottles of Wine of Cardui and 25 cent packages of Theodor's Black-Draught.

POND'S EXTRACT

There is only ONE POND'S EXTRACT, and everybody knows its purity, strength and great medicinal value. Don't take the weak, watery Hazel preparations represented to be "the same as" POND'S EXTRACT. They generally contain "wood alcohol," which irritates the skin, and, taken internally, is a deadly poison. Get genuine POND'S EXTRACT, sold ONLY in SEALED bottles, in BUFF wrappers.

PROGRESS IN WISCONSIN OF THE INDEPENDENT PHONE COMPANIES

On the 25th and 26th of this month the independent telephone companies of Wisconsin will meet at La Crosse. The last two conventions met at Madison but at the February session here it was thought best to hold the convention in different parts of the state so as to make them more representative of the whole state. The rapid development and growing importance of the independent telephone business in this state is not generally realized.

The independent telephone movement in Wisconsin, as in most other states, began some six years ago, at which time the basic patents of the Bell telephone instrument expired. The expiration of these patents marked the birth of the independent movement and as soon as competition became possible under the law the public stood anxious and ready to take up the movement.

Assured by the success of the undertaking in other states new telephone companies sprang up in all parts of the state and the people at once aided and co-operated with them in a manner that augured no good to the old monopoly. The independent movement once begun with its improved service and legitimate rates, backed by public sentiment, grew apace throughout the state.

The cities and villages of from 500 to 5,000 inhabitants which heretofore had never had and local telephone service constructed exchanges; in many of the larger cities the independent companies secured franchises and built rival exchanges to the Bell, the service of which proved so efficient and popular that as a rule they have grown to be four times as large as the Bell exchanges; toll lines were extended from these exchanges and other central points to villages and towns which never before had had telephone communications of any kind; the rural districts which had never even dreamed of 'phones were also provided with telephone communications and in many sections of the state no modern farm house was considered complete without it, and as a consequence, the telephone, that was once an expensive luxury that could only be enjoyed by the few became a necessity and one within the reach of all.

The growth of the independent companies has been rapid and continuous and there are today some 150 companies in Wisconsin operating about 7,000 miles of toll line and over 100 exchanges with a total of over 20,000 subscribers. These independent telephone interests have as a rule been developed by local capital. Many of the companies in addition to their exchanges have built a system of toll lines connecting the neighboring towns.

These various systems have been steadily extended and been connected with other systems until whole sections of the state are thus covered by inter-connected systems. Although many of the companies are thus inter-connected, up to the present time most of the different companies have been engaged in developing each its local territory giving little attention to other companies, but it now proposed to change or rather broaden this policy and inter-connect all the various systems by copper-metallic trunk lines.

It is found that the toll lines of the independents reach into hundreds of towns and villages not reached by the Bell company; that many of the smaller cities having from 2,000 to 6,000 inhabitants have independent exchanges only, and that in most of the larger cities of the state, although they have two exchanges, almost without exception the independent exchange is by far the larger, and it can be readily seen that as soon as these various trunk lines connecting the different systems are built, the independent companies will be in a position to command the greater portion of the long distance business, just as they now handle the greater part of the local business in most of the cities.

Last year nearly a score of independent exchanges were constructed in this state, several of these having as high as 500 subscribers. So far this year some thirty new companies have been organized and the prospect for a continuation of this work this year is even better than it was last.

LAXAKOLA

THE GREAT TONIC LAXATIVE

At some time, if not habitually, you have sour stomach, indigestion, biliousness, constipation, bad breath, dizziness, inactive liver, heartburn, kidney troubles, backache, loss of appetite, insomnia, lack of energy, bad blood, blotched or muddy skin, or some of the other symptoms and disorders which tell the story of bad bowels and an impaired digestive system. Laxakola will cure you: It will clean out the bowels, stimulate the liver and kidneys, strengthen the mucous membranes of the stomach, purify your blood and put you "on your feet" again. Your appetite will return, your bowels will move regularly, your liver and kidneys will cease to trouble you, your skin will clear and freshen and you will feel the old time energy and buoyancy.

Mothers who had been seeking the proper medicine to give their little ones for constipation, diarrhea, colic and similar troubles, find Laxakola an ideal medicine for children. Children like its taste and ask for it. It keeps their bowels regular without any pain or griping, and acts as a general tonic at the same time. It will assist nature, aid digestion, relieve restlessness, clear the coated tongue, reduce fever, cause refreshing, restful sleep and make them well, happy and hearty.

Laxakola, the great laxative tonic, is not only most efficient family remedy, but the most economical, because it combines two medicines, viz: laxative and tonic, and at one price. No other remedy gives so much for the money. At druggists, 25c. and 50c., or send for free sample to THE LAXAKOLA CO., 123 Nassau Street, N. Y., or 356 Dearborn Street, Chicago.

Trade supplied by King's Pharmacy and People's Drug Store.

DIXIE MAN FOR PRESIDENT.

Congressman Gaines, Wants Southern Democrat Nominated in 1904.

New York, June 22.—A special to the Tribune from Washington says: Congressman John Wesley Gaines of Tennessee, in an interview, favors the nomination of a southern man for president in 1904. He says:

"My proposition for the nomination of a southern man for president in 1904 is taking like wildfire. Since I made it a week ago I have received stacks of letters from all parts of the country commending me. For more than fifty years this country was ruled by the south; and I am satisfied we can regain control if we go about it in the right way. The first step in this direction should be the nomination of a straight old-fashioned southern democrat for president in 1904. The man who says that the south does not now possess an abundance of presidential material is a fool. I can name a dozen men or more any one of whom would make us a winning candidate."

Then Mr. Gaines mentioned these names: Senator Morgan of Alabama; Senator Cockrell of Missouri; Senator Carmack and Ex-Senator Turley of Tennessee; Senators Culberson and Bailey of Texas; Senator Bacon and Clark Howell of Georgia; Associate Justice White of Louisiana. "And," said Mr. Gaines, "you might add to this list the name of John Marshall Harlan of Kentucky, who, though appointed to the United States Supreme Court as a republican, has enunciated fine old democratic doctrines from the bench more than once."

Illinois Democrats to Meet.

Chicago, June 22.—The democratic state executive committee will meet here tomorrow. George E. Brennan will be announced as secretary of the executive committee, which means that he will be the active secretary of the state committee. It is probable the headquarters of the state committee will be located in the Hotel Majestic.

THE OBITUARY RECORD.

Admiral Hoskins.

London, June 22.—Admiral Sir Anthony Hiley Hoskins is dead. He was born in 1828.

Admiral Hoskins entered the British navy in 1842 and retired from the active list in 1883. He became a lieutenant in 1849, commander in 1858 and captain in 1863. During the Kaffir war of 1851-2 he was a lieutenant on the Castor and acted as naval aid-de-camp to Gen. Sir Harry Smith. In 1857 he commanded the Sloop in China at the capture of Canton and Taku forts.

Gen. Byron Laflin.

Hudson, N. Y., June 22.—Gen. Byron Laflin is dead. He was a native of Lee, Mass. Before the civil war he was an extensive paper manufacturer. He enlisted as captain of the 34th New York volunteers and he was promoted to the colonelcy. He was brevetted major-general and became provisional governor of North Carolina. He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Dawes of Chicago and Miss Eliza Laflin of Watertown, N. Y.

Civil War Veteran Dies.

New York, June 22.—Brevet Brigadier General Robert Nugent died at his home in Brooklyn of cancer of the throat and stomach, originating from wounds received at the battle of Fredericksburg.

Died at Age of 98.

Pana, Ill., June 22.—Mrs. Charlotte P. Little, aged ninety-eight years, the oldest resident of Christian county, died here. She had been a resident of Christian county for fifty years.

Willis W. Metcalf Dies.

Oswego, N. Y., June 22.—Willis W. Metcalf, widely known on New York newspapers, died in his native town, aged thirty-three years, from Bright's disease.

Remarry After Forty Years.

St. Louis, June 22.—F. M. Pierce and Mrs. Nancy Bowditch were married today for the second time. They were first married at Brookston, Ind., in 1856, when he was 23 and she 17 years old. At the opening of the civil war Pierce enlisted and never returned. His wife heard that he was dead and went to Kansas and then to California, married again and raised a family. Pierce says that it was late in 1865 when he returned to the old home, after a long siege of illness, to find his wife gone. Later he learned that she had been married again. Then he heard that she was dead. He then remarried in East St. Louis. Several months ago the couple met in East St. Louis, and as she was a widow and he a widower, they immediately decided to re-marry.

From Stock Ticker to Death.

New York, June 22.—Emil Tredellus, fifty-five years old, is dying in the J. Hood Wright hospital, a victim of the wild speculation that swept over the country and terminated with the panic caused by the fight for the control of the Northern Pacific railroad. Tredellus lost his entire fortune in the panic and has since lived on the bounty of his children. This so wounded his pride that he has often threatened to commit suicide, and he has put his threat into execution. While sitting on a bench in Central Park, he fired three bullets into the right temple. There is no hope for his recovery.

Diver Finds Relics of '76.

Burlington, Vt., June 22.—J. G. Falcon, a diver, has visited the spot where the schooner Royal Savage, commanded by Gen. Benedict Arnold, was sunk in 1776 by the British. He found three gun carriages and about 30 cannon balls and shot. Two of the former will be given to the Smithsonian institution at Washington and the other has been given to the city of Burlington. The relics were discovered in about 30 feet of water. The carriages are made of wood and iron, the former having been petrified.

Messenger Thrashes Department Clerk.

Washington, D. C., June 22.—John McQuade, a messenger in the War Department, enraged because he suspected Appointment Clerk Francis Ford of reporting him to the Secretary for drunkenness and causing him to be laid off three days, attacked Ford in the corridors of the building with his fists. Ford was so badly beaten that he had to be removed to his home. McQuade was ejected from the building.

Uncle Sam Has Prison Ship.

Norfolk, Va., June 22.—Owing to the over-crowded condition of the naval prisons at Boston, New York and Mare Island the government has ordered that the United States collier Southery, now here, be transformed into a prison ship, so that naval prisoners may be sent to Norfolk from different stations and detained until they can be admitted to either New York or Boston prison.

Asks Writ of Habeas Corpus.

Kansas City, Mo., June 22.—Release on a writ of habeas corpus was asked by Auditor Harder of the Metropolitan Street Railway Company. He is constructively in jail for refusing to show the grand jury certain warrants which it believes will aid in ferreting out the jury bribers. The grand jury has not yet succeeded in serving a witness subpoena on P. A. Valentine of Chicago, a heavy stockholder in the company.

Ruling Favors Shirtwaists.

St. Louis, Mo., June 22.—The Circuit Court ruled that jurors, witnesses will be permitted to wear shirtwaists in court during the heated terms.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Palmer returned home last evening from their wedding trip.
